

Non-violent relationship breakdown housing advice

Housing rights in a relationship breakdown can be complicated and you may need to seek legal advice.

If you have a joint tenancy or own a property with your ex-partner you may still have rights to occupy the place you are living in together.

To check what your rights are, contact Eden Housing Association's Housing Options Service (Eden Housing Association are contracted to carry out the homeless and advice service on behalf of Eden District Council) on Tel: 01768 861428

Where else can I go for housing help and advice?

There are several places you could visit:

Shelter has produced a guide for people who have experienced a relationship breakdown and what their housing rights are after splitting up. Shelter can also be contacted by telephone: 0344 515 1944.

Citizens Advice Bureau - for general and legal advice and help.
Telephone: 0330 0553352.

If you've decided that you need to find a new home, you may choose to register on the housing register at www.cumbriachoice.org.uk
